This is the presentation of the ASSOCIATED COMPANY (EVOLVE CRO):

Evolve is a clinical research organization (CRO) based in Latin America, specializing in oncology and rare diseases.

With its headquarters in Argentina and operations in Brazil and other key countries in the region,

WE PROVIDE SERVICES TO GLOBAL COMPANIES looking to enter the Latin American market :

We assist global companies looking to enter the Latin American market by efficiently executing clinical trials from Phase I to Phase IV.

We work alongside global biotechnology and pharmaceutical companies to accelerate patient recruitment through our network of over 120 high-quality research centers, which provide access to diverse patient populations.

Our model allows for the parallel execution of start-up processes, significantly reducing the time required for country activation.

Evolve combines deep regional expertise with global standards, ensuring compliance with international regulatory requirements and ICH-GCP guidelines.

Our teams maintain high-performance metrics, comparable to those seen in the United States and Europe.

Furthermore, we offer superior cost-efficiency without compromising quality or the speed of execution.

Through close collaboration, our goal is to mitigate risks in clinical development and optimize overall trial outcomes.
